Fishing for Health.
When a man breaks down with that dread disease, consumption, and recognizes his condition, he starts out to fish for health. He tries this thing and that thing. He indulges in all kinds of absurd athletic exercises. He tries first one climate and then another. He grows steadily worse. That is the story of most consumptives. Finally, when the consumptive dies, the doctor shrugs his shoulders and pronounces consumption incurable. A thirty years' test of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has demonstrated that it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease, before the lungs are too far wasted. In a consumptive there is a weaker spot than even the lungs. That spot is the stomach. A consumptive never really begins to get well until his stomach gives out. The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only braces up the stomach, but acts directly on the lungs, healing them and driving out all impurities. Honest medicine dealers will not urge you to take any inferior substitute. "I had a very bad cough," says a patient, "and was almost in my grave with consumption," writes Mrs. Clara A. McIntyre, Box 171, Ashtland, Middlesex Co. Mass. "A friend of mine who had died with consumption, told me in a dream and told me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and, thank the Lord, I did. By the time I had taken half of the first bottle, my cough had bettered. I took until I had taken three bottles. That was all I needed. I was well and strong again."

She Was Too Mad to Speak.
The Washington woman came across some excellent tea in England—tea the like of which she had never known before. She knew there was none of it to be had in America, so she bought pounds and pounds of it to bring home with her. She didn't mean to pay duty on it, for she felt that no really patriotic American can consistently pay a tea tax after what our ancestors did in Boston harbor, so she made herself a petticoat, and into the lining thereof she quilted the tea. When the steamer drew into port, she put on the garment. To wear it was martyrdom. It seemed to weigh a ton. She could scarcely walk in it, and the hang of her new going ashore gown was utterly ruined by it, but the custom house officials let her pass without suspicion. She went directly to the railway station and started for Washington. The journey will live long in her memory for its discomfort. Her husband met her at the station. He marked her pale, worn look. As they stepped into the carriage she told him the story.

"I wasn't going to let them get ahead of me," she said proudly. "Wasn't it a lovely idea?"
Her husband fell back in the carriage and roared.
"Lovely!" he said. "Lovely! I should say it was. Why, my dear, there isn't any duty on tea."
And let me remark in passing that the child's sob in the silence isn't by any means the only thing that curdles deeper than the strong man in his wrath.—Washington Post.

A man always rises in his own estimation when he gets on familiar terms with a person of whom he once stood in awe.—Atchison Globe.

THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE WAR.

Some time ago it was said at Washington that too many facts were given out about the war in the Philippines. The news received by the country perhaps was not so reassuring as the authorities at the nation's capital desired. It may be presumed from the few details received that a more rigid criticism of news has been ordered. It may be good policy to keep from the country the true state of the war at the Philippines, but the wisdom of such a policy, when exercised to keep the people in ignorance about their own business in a free country, may not lead to approved results. Late advices from Manila do not give the encouragement in the prosecution of the war that was expected by the country. The administration may have been in some particulars impeded by factions opposition to the work, but the chief embarrassment to the active prosecution of the war was a desire by the President to close it with as few men and with as little expense to the country as possible, which is commendable, provided the circumstances and facts of the war would justify that mode of carrying it forward. The American soldier has proven to the world that his fighting qualities are equal to any demand upon them, but it should have been understood at the beginning that he could be present at one place and no more, and in active war it could have been speedily ascertained whether the one place requiring his presence was at the front, and if his place was in the fighting lines, there could not have been any difficulty in ascertaining that more men were required to do the work which was necessary to hold the country that the fighting lines recovered.

The President should have every consideration in his difficult position. There should be no doubt that it is a fact that there was an abiding impression in the mind of the President that the commissioners sent to the Philippines would do the work required to effect a lasting peace with the Filipinos. The commission proved a failure for the sufficient reason that the Filipinos were not defeated in the war; their resistance had not been overcome; their war power was intact; active and determined when the commission arrived at Manila, and it continued to be active and determined when peace negotiations were discussed by the representatives of Aguinaldo and the commissioners at Manila.

The commission will return without laurels of peace or war, but with an abiding conviction that Aguinaldo and the Philippines will have to be whipped before peace will reign in the islands, and about the correctness of that conclusion there can be no question by intelligent people, or question by the President. Too way of the administration is marked and clear, and the duty of the President is to take an aggressive position on the war and act immediately, and if there is a stumbling block in the way that cannot be removed by him, it will then become his duty to convene Congress in session at the earliest time consistent with notice to clear the way and provide means necessary for active war, and the country will say "Amen." There will be a few people who will carp at the administration about "government without the consent of the governed," but that should not hinder action for a moment, as there is no question of that nature in the war. The United States made a purchase from France of Louisiana territory. When that purchase was made, and the United States received title, had the people of that country gone into rebellion against the government, would it have discussed "government without the consent of the governed." The reply, if any, made would have been, "lay down your arms or you will be made to do so. The government will not discuss nice questions of government with rebels who are in arms against its authority." The conditions are parallel, and the government, by its commissioners, refused to discuss like questions with the Philippines. There is not a patriotic American who will question the necessity of prompt, decisive work against Aguinaldo and his followers to vindicate the honor of his country. His language should be, "My country, right or wrong, and if there is a wrong, it is generous and magnanimous, and will right the wrong."

Teachers are pouring into Los Angeles from every section of the country.

THE WIDE WORLD
AT A GLANCE.

News of a Day in Very Brief Sentences.

President McKinley will immediately reinforce General Otis in the Philippines, if Otis thinks the situation demands it.

Mme. Dreyfus is at Rennes, France, awaiting the arrival of her husband. Although Dreyfus is said to have arrived, the report is not credited. No manifestations of hatred were made by the changeable populace on the arrival of Mme. Dreyfus.

The Insular Commission, referring to Porto Rican Catholic priests, requests in its report to the Catholic church that they be allowed to take wives.

The new grain rates, prepared in the Southern Pacific office for the benefit of the railroad monopoly and adopted by the Railroad Commissioners, will be put into effect next Saturday.

H. C. Faulkner of Redwood City, California, appeals to his countrymen to take measures toward securing his release from a Mexican prison, where he claims to be unjustly imprisoned.

The Chinese empire seems to be trembling on the verge of dissolution. The Chinese of Stockton, California, will participate in the Fourth of July celebration to be held in that city.

Seven thousand dollars were stolen from two guests at the Hotel Richelieu, San Francisco. Two weeks of search has failed to locate the robbers.

A San Francisco cripple begs to be sent to jail for six months, preferring penal servitude to poverty.

Harry Peppers, the antagonist of "Dutch" Neal, the prize-fighter who was killed in the ring, was exonerated by a Chicago coroner's jury.

The American jockeys, Ted Sloan and J. Reiff, are winning fame in England. They win easily on comparatively poor mounts.

The officers who will constitute the military court at Rennes for the second trial of Dreyfus are arriving at that city. Dreyfus will soon be there to meet those of his former accusers who have not committed suicide. The court is composed of artillery officers, which is the branch of the service to which Dreyfus belongs. His wife, accompanied by her father and mother, is in Rennes awaiting the arrival of her husband. Public sentiment in France has changed since the first trial and Dreyfus may be a hero in a few days. The feelings of the French people are pronounced when they believe they are right, and they are a justice loving people, and when convinced there has been an error or a wrong committed they will get right as speedily as possible and repair the wrong as near as it can be done by them.

Mining at Tuscarora.

Work at the Young America group is progressing as rapidly as men can push it. The shaft is now down 100 feet, and a small steam hoist is being erected temporarily to avoid the long windlass pull. The materials for the foundation for the new gasoline hoisting plant are on the ground and as soon as the machinery which is now on the road arrives it will be placed in position. Mr. Esayton, who is in charge of the mechanical work, believes everything will be running by August 1st. In the meantime the shaft will have tapped the ledge at a depth of about 160 feet, and the extraction of ore begun at once. The Young America is the most promising piece of mining ground in the camp, and with the erection of a mill to work the ores already blocked out will take rank at once with the Dexter, which just now seems to be the center of attraction to Salt Lake mining men. We predict that when the Young America is opened up the outside will commence to realize that Tuscarora is more than a one mine camp, a theory that seems now to be firmly held.—Times-Review.

Having a Great Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. In these days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief in a very short time. The sales are growing, and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Calumet. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Why all this talk about the New York renegades, such as Croker, Hill, Belmont and their set? They are not Democrats. They have no right to assist in making a platform or choosing a candidate for the party they opposed in 1896. The platform should be made by Democrats from States that are Democratic.—Utah State Journal.

Dr. J. G. Leonard returned Wednesday morning from his trip through eastern Nevada.

Harry Davis of the Model cigar store has all the latest novelties sent him from the manufacturers, and they are all right, too. Go and see them.

HOGS.

The trade was very well supplied today, about all it was willing to handle owing to the condition of trade and the hot weather. The market was steady, the bulk of sales being made at $3.50.

SHEEP.

There were no offerings on the market. The receipts were from a packing company's feed lots and went direct to slaughter. The demand for mutton is fair and this market is just as good as the river.

He Ended the Feud.

When the Republicans were about to nominate somebody to run for governor in 1844, there were candidates in all parts of the woods. The day of the convention, however, "Uncle Dick" went down and, without having present any semblance of candidacy other than his own personality, he was nominated by acclamation.

His brother-in-law, David T. Littler, was a candidate for state treasurer. He had been to some pains to make his candidacy an organized feature of the days preceding the convention. When Oglesby was named for governor, Littler was put out of the calculations by reason of coming from the next county and was side tracked in consequence. Although Mrs. Oglesby and Mrs. Littler were sisters, the houses of Oglesby and Littler were far apart from that time. The heads were so completely estranged that one did not speak to the other. For ten years they remained strangers.

Littler lived in a great old fashioned mansion in Springfield. Oglesby lived on his farm near Elkhart. One day, to the surprise of the Littler family, ex-Governor Oglesby walked in. "How are you, Dave?" said the ex-governor.

"How are you, governor?" said Littler, as he struggled against his astonishment. Then the extended hand of the unexpected visitor was cordially grasped.

"I came to take dinner with you, Dave."

"Well, I'm glad of it," answered Littler, as he took the hat and coat of his caller.

"Is the whisky bottle in the same old place, Dave?"

"It is, and there's whisky in it."

And that was how the family feud ended forever.—Chicago Tribune.

Verdict as Rendered.

"Gentlemen of the jury," asked the clerk of the court, "have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," replied the foreman. "The verdict of the jury is that the lawyers have mixed this case up so that we don't know anything at all about it."—Philadelphia North American.

romance of Siam's Great Peaks. Siam's greatest mountain range is the Sam Roi Yawt, or the 800 peaks. A quaint legend which explains their origin is set forth by the Siamese geologists as follows:

"It appears that one Mong Lai and his wife once inhabited the neighborhood (they were giants), and each promised their daughter in marriage, unknown to the other, to a different suitor. At last the day of the nuptials arrived, and Chao Lai and the Lord of Mleang Chin (China) both arrived to claim the bride. When the horrified father found how matters stood—having a regard for the value of a promise, which is not too common in the east—he cut his daughter in half so that neither suitor should be disappointed.

"Chao Lai in the meantime, on finding that he had a rival, committed suicide, and the peak of Chao Lai is the remains of his body. The unfortunate bride is to be found in the islands off Sam Roi Yawt, the peaks of which are the remains of the gifts which were to be made to the holy man who was to solemnize the wedding, while Kaw Chang and Kaw King, on the east side of the gulf, are the elephant and buffalo cart in which the presents were brought."

Very Plain Reasons Why

We Sell Cheapest

Claims of supremacy are ineffectual unless they are backed by solid arguments that establish absolute facts. Exaggeration flows easily and smoothly from many retail sources. We could advertise wildly and frantically, but crediting the public with intelligence and powers of discrimination, we prefer to print our modest statement, and calmly sustain them with the most logical of reasons, for in fact:

No retailer in the world buys goods more advantageously than the Novelty Dry Goods Store Co. Frequently we may not secure staple articles for less money than others pay, but we in variably sell cheaper

BECAUSE WE ARE SATISFIED WITH SMALLER PROFITS

The actual amount paid for goods is only a part of their cash. Every man and woman understands that each department must contribute its pro rata percentage for general store expenses—including losses that the credit system involves.

Four Reasons Why Our Prices are Lowest:

WE DO NOT SELL ON CREDIT
WE DO NOT GIVE DISCOUNTS
WE ARE VERY CLOSE BUYERS
WE ARE NOT EXTRAVAGANT

Other stores tax cash customers for losses sustained by delinquent credit customers. Other stores levy tribute from YOU to compensate for discounts and commissions granted a favored few. WE DO NOT. You only: my customers get the discount. WE ARE NOT EXTRAVAGANT. Do you grasp the full meaning of these words and comprehend their connection with your purse? THE NOVELTY is not an Extravagant Store. The merchandise, thoughts and features are always foremost. Brilliant and tawdry decorations are costly. Theatrical glare may please the fancy, but it increases the price of goods. Our practical and conservative methods of store management are not intended to appeal to your sense of display. They are meant to accord with your ideas of economy. Many houses indulge in spectacular display AT YOUR EXPENSE. The Novelty Dry Goods Store may be comparatively plain, but values are wholesome and distinctive.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every State in the Union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup. It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher of Liberty, W. Va., only repeats what has been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for sale by Wm. Pinniger.

THE ITALIAN FARMER.

As He is Found in the Truckee Valley.

The Italian farmer of the Truckee Valley has traits in his disposition which remind one of "the ways that are dark and the tricks that are vain for which the heathen Chinese is peculiar." Chief among these is his love for water. This statement will be discredited at once, because no one who has seen an Italian farmer returning home from his weekly visit to Reno will ever believe he has any use for water. Apparently he fears that if used externally it might disintegrate his cuticle and raiment, and that if taken internally it would counteract the effect produced by his numerous potatoes of "dago red," or perhaps he has an abiding fear that Reno water is infested by bacteria. This, if true, would prove beyond doubt that he is eccentric and peculiar, for who ever heard of the Reno Water Company supplying their customers with anything but double refined aqua pura?

With this in mind the reader will at once assert that the Italian farmer is not addicted to using water. He is, nevertheless, not for personal use, but for irrigation purposes; and the means he takes to procure it are certainly unique, if not something more.

At one time the writer was employed on a Truckee Valley farm where he had a splendid vantage ground from which to observe the subtle art of water stealing, as it is pursued by the sons of sunny Italy. The owner of the farm was superintendent of a large ditch which skirts the valley supplying many farms with water from the Truckee river. Farmers living at the lower end of the ditch would occasionally complain that they were not getting the water they paid for and at these times the superintendent would send a squad of men out to ascertain the place or places where the ditch was leaking.

Sometimes the leaks would be found in a damaged flume, at other times under innocent looking boxes by which drainage water was conveyed across the ditch, but investigation invariably showed this leaking water was irrigating the ranch of some Italian, who, when questioned about it, like the Chinaman, could "no sabes," although he could "sabes" fast enough when the water rent collector visited him. Most of these Italians buy a few inches of water, which is sold at a regular price per inch per month, an inch being the amount of water which escapes through an aperture an inch square under four inch pressure. Very few of them buy half enough to irrigate their farms. By buying a little the Italian is enabled to steal more than enough to supply his need. He does this by jamming the outlet box with a crowbar, or by excavating beneath it, allowing the water to flow out from under the box as well as through it. So the wily Italian buys 20 inches of water for his 300 acre farm and irrigates it beautifully. Threats and maledictions avail nothing and no guarding, however strict, can prevent these thefts. A psychologist would perhaps say the Italian farmer has a mild form of kleptomania which becomes violent only where water for irrigation purposes is in question.

This seems to be a plausible solution to the problem, because it is well known that he will steal irrigation water for an employer with just a much gusto and strategy as he will for himself. The "Dago," as he is found in the Truckee Valley, is verily a strange and wonderful animal.

ALFRED NELSON.

A Corporation to Provide Athletic Sports.

There was a corporation formed yesterday, the purpose of which is to buy and own lands in the county of Washoe and elsewhere in the State of Nevada. The business of the corporation will be to provide athletic, wheelmen and other sporting clubs with race courses, club houses and all manner of opportunity to while away the festive hour, in a legitimate and proper manner for young and old together. The object of the corporation is praiseworthy in its details, and its purpose and work will supply the means that will aid the youth of the town to acquire steady habits which will insure a virtuous and upright life.

Off for the Old Home.

Henry L. Fish, our fellow townsman, went off on yesterday's train to Fair Haven, Mass., to take a vacation. Mr. Fish has been engaged in the insurance department of the Washoe County Bank for many years. Relaxation of any kind from business duties was almost unknown to him. If any man in Reno has earned a lay-off it is Mr. Fish.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

The Program Complete and Everything in Readiness.

The finance committee was at work again yesterday, and reports about $375 in subscriptions and cash on hand. The program is now completed, all the minor details having been arranged. The day will be one round of fun and excitement, with the great parade, literary program, relay race and grand ball by Hastings' band in the evening. The ball will be given in the Pavilion, and all the windows are to be removed, so that ventilation may be complete and excessive heat obviated.

The relay team, which was selected at a try-out last Sunday, is training steadily and is in fine condition. Every wheelman feels so strong an interest in the team that he must needs do something to show it. This is shown by the number who go daily out to the track and do all they can to encourage the riders by word and deed. This is the spirit which builds up great teams; it is the esprit de corps which built up and made the great football teams at Princeton and Amherst teams that defeated colleges four times as large as their own. Reno may not win the relay, but no whine of discontent will be heard if she does not. She will try again and again and never give up until victory comes. The west is beginning to learn of the quality commonly known as Nevada "grit."

A Cotton Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cahlan observed the first anniversary of their marriage day by inviting a number of friends to their residence last evening and going through the pretty ceremony once again, surrounded by a group of merry friends.

Those present were Prof. N. E. Wilson and wife, the Misses Dicea and Jennie Jameson, Thermo De La Matyr, J. B. Schweitzer, Miss Brunette, Mrs. J. O. Sessions, Miss Ivan Sessions, Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. B. C. Shearer, William Luke and F. P. Dano.

The mock ceremony was performed by F. P. Dano, Miss Ivan Sessions and Miss Jennie Jameson acting as bridesmaids, while Thermo De La Matyr glittered resplendently in the capacity of "best man."

Following this came the presentation of gifts, which were numerous, appropriate and cotton. Games were then in order, after which the banquet was served. The evening was a continuous round of pleasure for the guests, who departed lavish in their praise of the host and hostess.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50cts. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson Druggist.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.
